Four StarsBy WH GriesarSlim but good survey of a beautifully proportioned clock of the early 19th century

Eli Terrys pillar scroll clock is a uniquely American innovation. The result of Terrys ambition to create a lower cost, mass produced, 30 hour clock, the pillar scroll revolutionized the American clockmaking industry. The result of a comprehensive exhibit at the National Watch and Clock Museum, this catalog brings together a collection of over forty examples of pillar scroll clocks. Each clock is illustrated with color photographs of the case and movement and has a full written description. Through these examples, representing the work of thirty clockmakers, the evolution of pillar scroll clocks over time is portrayed.
